

Chris Bartholomew Web Site Goes Live

Sentinet Computing has successfully completed web site development for Chris Bartholomew Electrical Contractors giving them a web site that they can easily update directly in a web browser to showcase their services online.

As a standard web project carried out by Sentinet, their site is attractive, search engine friendly, and has features including site backup and comprehensive statistics built in.

If your web site is tired and never up to date, then call or email Sentinet now.